

Tuamotu Islands

In contrast to the dramatic peaks of the high islands such as Tahiti, Moorea and Bora Bora the low islands of the Tuamotu Archipelago are equally dramatic, having the largest collection of coral atolls in the world. The largest of these is Rangiroa, with its immense 42 mile long, 16 mile wide turquoise lagoon. A mecca for divers this natural aquarium is home to a vast array of marine life and corals.

Further north lies Manihi an atoll of brilliant white sand beaches shaded by palm trees. These collections of coral inlets conjure up castaway dreams, the ultimate get-away for rejuvenation of the body and soul.

Tikehau, is one of the most beautiful atolls in Polynesia. Here it is possible to discover the true Tuamotu way of life.

Fakarava, a UNESCO nature reserve, is among the least explored of all the atolls. Fakarava is where you will learn that time can stand still.
